ASSEMBLY INSTRUCTIONS

TOOLS NEEDED

- Tape Measure
- T-Square or Straight Edge
- Utility Knife

STEP 1

- Remove everything from the floor area and clean the floor surface
- It is recommended to directly lay the rubber tiles over concrete or wood subfloor
- NOTE: Rubber tiles can be installed over carpet provided the carpet is commercial grade low pile carpet. It is not recommended to install rubber flooring directly over plush or fluffy carpets, as the rubber tiles will not lock together properly.

- Start on one end of the room and work your way back.
- Since these are only center tiles, we recommend cutting off the edge of one side to form the border tile along the wall
- Once the first row is placed, fill in the rest of the room with whole tiles

STEP 3

- If you are installing in a room that is not square and come to certain obstacles, measure each tile space one at a time, cut the tiles with your utility knife and straight edge, then lay them in place.
- Take your time and follow the old carpenter rule: measure twice and cut once.
- Having a few extra tiles on hand is also helpful incase any mistakes are made

This concludes the ZIPTL12PK Owner's Manual.

Enjoy!
