INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS

There are different methods one can use to install rubber flooring. This installation guide will describe how to install your rubber flooring with either double-sided tape or glue. Before installation, we recommend that you have the following:

- Glue/Double-sided tape (depending on which method of installation you choose)
- Rubber flooring
- Carpet roller
- Utility knife
- Straight edge

DOUBLE-SIDED TAPE:

1. Clean your subfloor. It needs to be free of dirt, dust, grease, and debris.
2. Make sure your subfloor is dry.
3. Lay the rubber flooring down to make sure you are okay with the look of the flooring.
4. Use the utility knife and straight edge if you get to the wall and need to cut away excess rubber flooring.
5. Apply double-sided tape to the bottom/perimeter of the rubber flooring.
6. Remove the release paper. Apply pressure when laying the rubber flooring.
7. After the adhesive has set for an hour, use a carpet roller on the rubber flooring. If you do not have a carpet roller, stomp on the rubber flooring.
